

UNISON values are Labour values

‘UNISON values are Labour values, Labour values are UNISON values’

It's the role of UNISON Labour link to take UNISON policies and priorities into the Labour Party.

This election it's never been easier. Labour candidates are standing on a platform of investing in public services, extending public ownership and improving rights at work.

As Dave Prentis, UNISON General Secretary, put it “This is a manifesto with with UNISON's priorities at it's heart”. It's a manifesto UNISON members helped create and one that UNISON members can be proud to vote and campaign for.

Labour Link Scotland have been active in working for our members who are standing as labour candidates across Scotland. They know that the future of our public services and our rights as trade unionists are at stake in this election – this is our chance for real change.

- Labour will ban zero hours contracts and fix minimum hours.
- Labour will repeal anti-trade union legislation, including the Conservatives' undemocratic Trade Union Act 2016, and create new rights and freedoms for trade unions to help them win a better deal for working people.
- Labour will require cancelled shifts to be paid and proper notice given for changes in hours.
- Labour will give everyone full and equal rights from day one at work.
- Labour will end bogus self-employment.

Wendy Milne, Scottish Labour Party Candidate for Linlithgow and East Falkirk with Richard Leonard, campaigning for a Labour victory.

Labour will build a better future

Labour will make the UK's digital infrastructure fit for the 21st century by making broadband publicly owned, fast and free. This will be done by bringing the relevant broadband parts of BT into public ownership creating two publicly owned companies British Digital Infrastructure (BDI) and the British Broadband Service (BBS). Everyone will have access to free full-fibre broadband by 2030. Unitary taxation of multinationals, including tech giants will pay for the operating costs of the public full-fibre network. The plan will boost jobs, tackle regional inequality, and improve quality of life as part of a mission to connect communities.

Worth voting for and worth campaigning for

UNISON Labour Link Candidates

Lesley Laird
Kirkcaldy & Cowdenbeath

Danielle Rowley
Midlothian

Angela Feeney
Motherwell & Wishaw

Pam Duncan-Glancy
Glasgow North

Wendy Milne
Linlithgow and Falkirk East

Alison MacCorquodale
Na h-Eileanan an Iar / Western Isles

Faten Hameed
Glasgow Central

Kevin McGregor
Kilmarnock & Loudon

Lewis Whyte
Inverness, Nairn, Badenoch and Strathspey

Brian Balcombe
Banff & Buchan

To help contact Simon Macfarlane
07703 194132
s.macfarlane@unison.co.uk

Pam Duncan-Glancy, Glasgow North (top), Angela Feeney Motherwell and Wishaw (left) and Kevin McGregor, Kilmarnock and Loudon (right) with supporters out campaigning for a radical Labour Party manifesto. Candidates you can be proud to vote for.

You can help make it happen

A Labour victory on 12 December will mean: a £10 per hour minimum wage, publicly owned free broadband, our railways run for the benefit of passengers rather than shareholders, and modern trade union laws that will make us a more effective voice for our members. You can help make it happen.

This isn't just worth voting for – it's worth campaigning for

All UNISON members (listed opposite) are standing on a platform of UNISON values – all of their campaigns need help between now, and especially on polling day.

Be part of the change we need. If you want to campaign for a Labour victory, contact UNISON Scotland Labour Link officer Simon Macfarlane.